

Cybersecurity and You – An End User’s Guide to Staying Out of Trouble

Jack Smith, MCP and James Pray, MCP with initial.IT, a Denver based Technology Solutions Provider will present Cybersecurity and You – An End User’s Guide to Staying Out of Trouble. Have you fallen prey to ransomware, phishing, or keylogging? Maybe you don’t even know when you have been the prey! In today’s modern office where internet access is as common as the water cooler and remote access is expected, it is important that all of your users understand the landscape of the internet and their responsibility in keeping valuable information, both personal and corporate safe from would be hackers and thieves and the Dark Web. Jack and James will go over internet safety, best practices and myths, the Dark Web and how the internet bad guys gain access to your valuable information and resources. Come and learn how to become an educated technology user and stop the bad guys in their tracks.